1 Occupy Wall Street vowing vengeance

► After court ruling, Occupy Wall Street let back into park, but without tents and tarps ► The arrests of hundreds yesterday will only fuel their fight for tomorrow, vow protesters ► Mayhem promised in 'Day of Action'

EMILY ANNE EPSTEIN/METRO

► After they were temporarily kicked out of Zuccotti Park yesterday, protesters marched to Canal Street.

In the news

Brookfield's point of view

"They are allowed to speak, they are allowed to talk ..., but they are not allowed to erect structures and live there," Douglas Flaum, an attorney for Brookfield Properties, said in court yesterday. "Allowing tents .... violates the purpose of the park." ● METRO/AB

As protesters trickled back into Zuccotti Park without their tents and tarps last night, they pledged to make tomorrow's International Day of Action one this city will never forget.

"On the 17th, mark my words, we're going to burn this city down," said Nkrumah Tinsley, 29.

Protester Eli Moses said Tuesday's midnight police raid on the park only "invigorated" the movement.

"Anyone who was in that raid is going to be more angry than scared," said Moses, 22. "We have

What to expect

- 7 a.m. Shut Down Wall Street: Protesters will meet in the park, before the opening of the Stock Exchange. "Tomorrow the opening bell will be shut down," said Eli Conrad, 23.
- 3 p.m. Occupy the subways: Protesters will gather at 16 central subway hubs throughout the city.
- 5 p.m. Foley Square: Protesters say thousands will gather at Foley Square and will then march across the Brooklyn Bridge.

to get more intense if we want anything to change. There are a lot of things that are going to happen tomorrow."

Occupy Wall Street protesters are planning a litany of events meant to disrupt New York City in commemoration of the group's two-month anniversary.

As several hundred protesters entered the park after sunset, they cried and hugged in celebration.

They were searched by police before entering, to make sure they didn't bring in sleeping bags, tarps or tents, all items that are now contraband in the private park.

But many of the protesters vowed that even without their gear, they're staying put at Zuccotti, no matter how cold it gets.

"It's really good to be home," said J.A. Myerson, 25, who is looking forward to Thursday. "A lot of people are willing to throw their bodies into the streets for this movement."

Salvaged books are up for grabs

NEW YORK. Books seized from Zuccotti Park during the massive crackdown yesterday will be available for pickup today.

The "Occupy Wall Street Library" first started when college students who joined the movement wanted to designate a secure space for their textbooks. It quickly grew to include thousands of donated books as supporters spread the story via social media.

Julie Wood, a spokeswoman for Mayor Michael Bloomberg's office, said via Twitter that the confiscated books are safely stored at the 57th Street Sanitation Garage. Anyone can go there to claim them today. ● METRO/CG

Judge sides with city: No tents

NEW YORK. A judge ruled yesterday that protesters may return to Zuccotti Park — but no camping.

The judge ruled in favor of the city's attorneys, who said that property rules forbid tents, which make the space unusable for the public, they argued. Lawyers for Occupy Wall Street argued that the tents are an integral part of the 24-hour protest. ● METRO/AB

Reporters covering the eviction among those handcuffed

Several reporters covering the NYPD's surprise eviction of Occupy Wall Street found themselves in handcuffs along with the nearly 200 others arrested yesterday.

Associated Press writer Karen Matthews, AP photographer Seth Wenig and Daily News reporter Matthew Lysiak were all arrested, according to the AP.

Two reporters from DNAinfo.com, news editor Patrick Hedlund and freelance photographer Paul Lomax, were also arrested while covering the eviction, DNAinfo reported on their site.

Quoted

"Those 20 minutes were some of the scariest of my life."

JOURNALIST LINDSEY CHRIST

Many of those arrested even displayed their NYPD-issued press passes, according to reports, to no avail.

Josh Harkinson, a reporter with Mother Jones, said that police told him he was in a "frozen zone" when he tried to remain in Zuccotti Park to observe the eviction. He was dragged away by a cop, who told him he was being removed for his own safety as police doused the campsite with what appeared to be pepper spray.

When Harkinson asked the cop his name, he was told "Watch your back," he reported.

Other members of the press reported being pushed and roughed-up by police while covering the raid. Lindsey Christ, a reporter for NY1, told The New York Times that one New York Post reporter was even thrown into a choke hold by police.

Poll finds majority back OWS

NEW YORK. By a 57-40 percent margin, a majority of New Yorkers believe that the Occupy Wall Street protesters should be allowed to stay in Zuccotti Park, according to a new Siena College research poll released yesterday.

However, that same poll found that a majority also say the movement does not represent 99 percent of Americans. Nearly 60 percent of voters said they also don't think the Occupy Wall Street movement has a clear message, found the poll.

"Even a majority of Democrats does not believe the movement represents 99 percent of people," said Siena pollster Steven Greenberg.

National Diabetes Month is a great time to take control.

If you have TYPE 2 DIABETES, take steps to help control
your blood sugar.

Pay as little as $5*
For up to 12 prescriptions.
Eligibility restrictions and terms apply.

Talk to your doctor about lowering blood sugar levels. Talk to your doctor about JANUVIA.

Decreases
Sugar Made
In Liver

- JANUVIA is a once-daily prescription pill that helps your body increase the insulin made in your pancreas and decrease the sugar made in your liver.
- Along with diet and exercise, JANUVIA helps lower blood sugar levels in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not likely to cause weight gain or low blood sugar (hypoglycemia).

JANUVIA (jah-NEW-vee-ah) should not be used in patients with type 1 diabetes or with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in the blood or urine). If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas), it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting it while taking JANUVIA.

Selected Risk Information About JANUVIA: Serious side effects can happen in people who take JANUVIA, including pancreatitis, which may be severe and lead to death. Before you start taking JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you've ever had pancreatitis. Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

Do not take JANUVIA if you are allergic to any of its ingredients, including sitagliptin. Symptoms of serious allergic reactions to JANUVIA, including rash, hives, and swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty breathing or swallowing, can occur. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away.

Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis, have been reported.

If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include headache, drowsiness, weakness, dizziness, confusion, irritability, hunger, fast heart beat, sweating, and feeling jittery.

Your doctor may do blood tests before and during treatment with JANUVIA to see how well your kidneys are working. Based on these results, your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA. The most common side effects of JANUVIA are upper respiratory tract infection, stuffy or runny nose and sore throat, and headache.

Call 1-888-JANUVIA or visit Januvia.com.

Now you can get JANUVIA for as little as $5 per prescription.*

*Eligible patients may pay as little as $5 out of pocket on each of up to 12 qualifying prescriptions. Maximum savings is $100 per prescription.

Medication Guide

JANUVIA® (jah-NEW-vee-ah) (sitagliptin) Tablets

Read this Medication Guide carefully before you start taking JANUVIA and each time you get a refill. There may be new information. This information does not take the place of talking with your doctor about your medical condition or your treatment. If you have any questions about JANUVIA, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?

Serious side effects can happen in people taking JANUVIA, including inflammation of the pancreas (pancreatitis) which may be severe and lead to death.

Certain medical problems make you more likely to get pancreatitis.

Before you start taking JANUVIA:

Tell your doctor if you have ever had

- pancreatitis
- stones in your gallbladder (gallstones)
- a history of alcoholism
- high blood triglyceride levels
- kidney problems

Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

What is JANUVIA?

- JANUVIA is a prescription medicine used along with diet and exercise to lower blood sugar in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with type 1 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in your blood or urine).
- If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas) in the past, it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting pancreatitis while you take JANUVIA.
- It is not known if JANUVIA is safe and effective when used in children under 18 years of age.

Who should not take JANUVIA?

Do not take JANUVIA if:

- you are allergic to any of the ingredients in JANUVIA. See the end of this Medication Guide for a complete list of ingredients in JANUVIA.

Symptoms of a serious allergic reaction to JANUVIA may include:

- rash
- raised red patches on your skin (hives)
- swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty in breathing or swallowing

What should I tell my doctor before taking JANUVIA?

Before you take JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you:

- have or have had inflammation of your pancreas (pancreatitis).
- have kidney problems.
- have any other medical conditions.
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if JANUVIA will harm your unborn baby. If you are pregnant, talk with your doctor about the best way to control your blood sugar while you are pregnant.
Pregnancy Registry: If you take JANUVIA at any time during your pregnancy, talk with your doctor about how you can join the JANUVIA pregnancy registry. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. You can enroll in this registry by calling 1-800-986-8999.
- are breast-feeding or plan to breast-feed. It is not known if JANUVIA will pass into your breast milk. Talk with your doctor about the best way to feed your baby if you are taking JANUVIA.

Tell your doctor about all the medicines you take, including prescription and non-prescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of your medicines and show it to your doctor and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

How should I take JANUVIA?

- Take JANUVIA 1 time each day exactly as your doctor tells you.
- You can take JANUVIA with or without food.
- Your doctor may do blood tests from time to time to see how well your kidneys are working. Your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA based on the results of your blood tests.
- Your doctor may tell you to take JANUVIA along with other diabetes medicines. Low blood sugar can happen more often when JANUVIA is taken with certain other diabetes medicines. See “What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?”.
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as you remember. If you do not remember until it is time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and go back to your regular schedule. Do not take two doses of JANUVIA at the same time.
- If you take too much JANUVIA, call your doctor or local Poison Control Center right away.
- When your body is under some types of stress, such as fever, trauma (such as a car accident), infection or surgery, the amount of diabetes medicine that you need may change. Tell your doctor right away if you have any of these conditions and follow your doctor's instructions.
- Check your blood sugar as your doctor tells you to.

- Stay on your prescribed diet and exercise program while taking JANUVIA.
- Talk to your doctor about how to prevent, recognize and manage low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), high blood sugar (hyperglycemia), and problems you have because of your diabetes.
- Your doctor will check your diabetes with regular blood tests, including your blood sugar levels and your hemoglobin A1C.

What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?

Serious side effects have happened in people taking JANUVIA.

- See “What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?”.
- Low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar, such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include:

• headache	• irritability
• drowsiness	• hunger
• weakness	• fast heart beat
• dizziness	• sweating
• confusion	• feeling jittery

- Serious allergic reactions. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away. See “Who should not take JANUVIA?”. Your doctor may give you a medicine for your allergic reaction and prescribe a different medicine for your diabetes.
- Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis

The most common side effects of JANUVIA include:

- upper respiratory infection
- stuffy or runny nose and sore throat
- headache

JANUVIA may have other side effects, including:

- stomach upset and diarrhea
- swelling of the hands or legs, when JANUVIA is used with rosiglitazone (Avandia®). Rosiglitazone is another type of diabetes medicine.

These are not all the possible side effects of JANUVIA. For more information, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

Tell your doctor if you have any side effect that bothers you, is unusual or does not go away.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

How should I store JANUVIA?

Store JANUVIA at 68°F to 77°F (20°C to 25°C).

Keep JANUVIA and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the use of JANUVIA

Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes that are not listed in Medication Guides. Do not use JANUVIA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give JANUVIA to other people, even if they have the same symptoms you have. It may harm them.

This Medication Guide summarizes the most important information about JANUVIA. If you would like to know more information, talk with your doctor. You can ask your doctor or pharmacist for additional information about JANUVIA that is written for health professionals. For more information, go to www.JANUVIA.com or call 1-800-622-4477.

What are the ingredients in JANUVIA?

Active ingredient: sitagliptin.

Inactive ingredients: microcrystalline cellulose, anhydrous dibasic calcium phosphate, croscarmellose sodium, magnesium stearate, and sodium stearyl fumarate. The tablet film coating contains the following inactive ingredients: polyvinyl alcohol, polyethylene glycol, talc, titanium dioxide, red iron oxide, and yellow iron oxide.

What is type 2 diabetes?

Type 2 diabetes is a condition in which your body does not make enough insulin, and the insulin that your body produces does not work as well as it should. Your body can also make too much sugar. When this happens, sugar (glucose) builds up in the blood. This can lead to serious medical problems.

High blood sugar can be lowered by diet and exercise, and by certain medicines when necessary.

Elected officials slam Bloomberg for OWS decision

It's not just protesters who are furious with Mayor Michael Bloomberg's decision to clear out Zuccotti Park. Elected officials from Harlem to Brooklyn are calling the move "sneaky" and "legally questionable."

"Given the NYPD's sneaky tactics early on, I am not surprised by the NYPD's efforts to use the cloak of night as a shield for their brazen violation of the First Amendment," said Brooklyn Councilman Jumaane Williams, who was at Zuccotti Park when the eviction happened yesterday. "I expected this would happen; I just did not know when."

Councilman Ydanis Rodriguez, who represents northern Manhattan, was among the nearly 200 arrested when police stormed the park and kicked out the campers.

In his own defense

Bloomberg was supposed to be in Washington, D.C. yesterday but abruptly canceled the trip to remain in New York, where he stood by his decision to evict the Zuccotti Park camp.

"Inaction was not an option. I could not wait for someone in the park to get killed or to injure another first responder before acting," he said, referring to an EMT who was hurt last week at the camp while removing a mentally ill man.

"Mayor Bloomberg made a needlessly provocative and legally questionable decision to clear Zuccotti Park in the dead of night," said Public Advocate Bill de Blasio, a frequent critic of Bloomberg's. "Provocations under cover of darkness only escalate tensions in a situation."

Bloomberg said the decision to evict the protesters was his and his alone, although he made the call after complaints from nearby business owners and Brookfield Properties, which owns the park.

But at least one city councilman approved of the mayor's decision.

"Bloomberg ended only the illegal aspects of what had clearly become an occupation, which denied others their right to safe, clean streets," said Queens Councilman Peter Vallone.

"The protests can continue, within the reasonable restrictions set by the Legislature and the courts," he added.

Movement under fire

► PORTLAND, ORE.:

Protesters and police clashed violently on Sunday as authorities cleared protesters from city parks they had been occupying. More than 50 people were arrested, and one protester was hospitalized. According to Occupy Portland, he remains in a wheelchair with a broken back.

► OAKLAND, CALIF.:

Police in riot gear raided an Occupy Oakland camp in Frank H. Ogawa Plaza Monday morning, clearing it of tents and tarps and arresting 33 protesters. The move came under criticism for the use of tear gas against protesters.

► SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH:

Authorities shut down Occupy Salt Lake City's camp in Pioneer Park Saturday night. 18 protesters were arrested in a largely nonviolent confrontation.

► DENVER, COLO.:

Police raided an Occupy Denver camp on Saturday and removed tents, mattresses and a grill from a sidewalk. 17 protesters were arrested.

► BURLINGTON, VT.:

Protesters camped outside Burlington's City Hall leave over the weekend, at the urging of city officials.

► NEW YORK, N.Y.:

Police moved in on Occupy Wall Street's camp Zuccotti Park early Tuesday morning, clearing it of protesters, tarps and tents. Nearly 200 people were arrested, including at least five journalists.

► CHAPEL HILL, N.C.:

On Sunday, police armed with semi-automatic rifles evicted protesters who had been squatting in an abandoned car dealership. The protesters were loosely affiliated with the Occupy Chapel Hill movement, but did not represent the official camp. Seven people were arrested.

Penn State should just tell the whole truth, lawyer says

The lawyer who took on the Roman Catholic Church in Boston in a sex-abuse case has some advice for Penn State University: embrace the victims and tell the whole truth, promptly.

Most legal experts agree that Penn State is likely to face civil lawsuits from alleged victims in the child sex abuse scandal that ousted the university's president and legendary football coach Joe Paterno. The size of Penn State's legal headaches and the damage to its reputation will depend on how the university reacts, according to lawyer Roderick MacLeish.

McQueary speaks

In a brief interview with NBC last night, Mike McQueary, the former assistant coach who said he witnessed Sandusky assaulting a boy in 2002, said his emotions were "all over the place."

The Associated Press and The Morning Call newspaper cited a Nov. 8 e-mail from McQueary saying he went to the police after the alleged incident.

should disclose any facts relevant to the case, he said.

"It's much better if the facts come from the source," MacLeish attested. "They're going to come out. It will give them credibility."

Penn State should also offer unconditional mental health treatment to the alleged victims and set up a private victims' compensation fund, sparing potential plaintiffs the "horrors of litigation," he added.

MacLeish, who has no connection to the Penn State case, was the lead lawyer in a clergy abuse case against the Archdiocese of Boston that settled in 2003. The church's combative legal stance ultimately backfired, MacLeish said. REUTERS

BofA: Debit card fee was big error

► $5 card surcharge was a mistake, Brian Moynihan concedes
► Promises more transparency in the future

Bank of America Corp. learned a lesson from its abandoned debit card fee and will work to provide transparency and fair pricing to customers while producing a return for shareholders, Chief Executive Brian Moynihan said yesterday. The bank and its peers are updating product offerings even as they "address new regulations that have reduced our revenues in this business," he said.

Consumer banking will become a "smaller platform" at Bank of America and derive its profitability from lower expenses and deeper relationships with customers, Moynihan said. Bank of America is testing new account packages where customers won't pay fees if they do significant business with the bank, he said.

Customers can avoid fees by using direct deposit for their paycheck, using a Bank of America credit card or taking out a mortgage with the bank, he said.

In another move to build capital, Bank of America said it was selling most of the remaining shares it owns in China Construction Bank Corp.

And in other baby news...

Christina Applegate might not want to have LaBelle as a guest star on her TV show "Up All Night" anytime soon. As she tells "The View," having her 9-month-old daughter Sadie around was a priority when deciding to do the new NBC show. "My whole thing was, 'I'm not doing this unless I can bring her.' So they had to build me a room for her and it's got her toys and a crib and she takes her naps there," the actress explains. "That's called a crazy mother who said, 'No, I'm not doing anything unless I can be with my baby.'"

Christina Applegate

If you are a baby and happen to come across singer Patti LaBelle, it's best if you pull up your diaper, grab your rattle and crawl right out of there.

It was disclosed yesterday in a lawsuit filed in Manhattan Supreme Court that the singer screamed obscenities at a toddler and threw a punch at the baby's mother (who also happens to be a school teacher) sometime this year. The mother, Roseanna Monk, is now suing LaBelle, who was living in Monk's Manhattan apartment building while appearing on Broadway's "Fela."

According to Monk's lawyer, reports The New York Daily News, this is what happened: The 18-month-old toddler, named Genevieve, was "scampering" around the apartment building's lobby when LaBelle, who is described as being in "full star regalia with oversize shades and a fur coat" became upset at the baby as she walked through. "What are you doing letting your kid run around like that?" she reportedly yelled. The lawyer goes on to say La-Belle then "started screaming" and "throwing water from a bottle at the mother's face and the baby's face." As if that wasn't enough, LaBelle then took a swing at the baby's mother.

LaBelle was then ushered into a waiting car by her entourage and the baby then "violently" threw up.

So far, the singer hasn't responded to the allegations. She's probably too busy not-babysitting to do so.

Talking points

Reed speaks on 'Twilight' dynamics

With the first part of the "Twilight" finale hitting theaters, actress Nikki Reed is opening up about the less-than-familial atmosphere amongst the cast. "In the beginning, it was innocent and fun, and we were like one big happy family. It was like being at sleepaway camp," Reed tells Seventeen magazine.

Nikki Reed

"Success came along and changed the dynamic. We're not all best friends, and we're not all going to hang out together after the final movie is done." And watching her co-stars' relationships fall apart once filming stopped wasn't the easiest thing. "It was very, very sad. Let's just leave it at that," she says.

Reynolds romances in Boston

The romance between Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively appears to be going strong, as the pair stepped out in Boston's Back Bay neighborhood for an intimate dinner at restaurant L'Espalier, according to People magazine. "They started with caviar and oysters on the half shell, went on to clam chowder and beer salad. For entrees, a lobster and a halibut dish. And for dessert, a souffle," a source says.

Jay-Z on impending fatherhood

Jay-Z says his own experience of his father leaving when he was 11 had a lasting impact on him. "If your dad died before you were born, yeah, it hurts, but it's not like you had a connection with something that was real," Jay-Z tells GQ magazine. "My dad was such a good dad that when he left, he left a huge scar." The rapper is currently expecting a daughter with wife Beyoncé Knowles, and his main priority is being there for his child. "Providing — that's not love. Being there — that's more important," he says. And does being there mean changing diapers once the little girl arrives? "Of course, of course," he says. "One hundred percent."

The 'Twilight' blitz begins

Anything you they can do

"Dream Big" is this season's Big Apple Circus theme; the idea of dreaming is manifested in woozy, steampunk/sci-fi/faux-Cirque du Soleil styling. The new team of Renaud Doucet and Andre Barbe, stage director and designer, have much international experience, especially directing opera. The lineup seems smaller than in previous years, with several acts appearing more than once in each show.

Grandma, the wonderfully wry clown played for decades by Barry Lubin, is having his farewell season; this 34th show, in general, is short on clowning. It's long on other surprises, though, like a capybara (the world's largest rodent) and an extremely punk-styled crested porcupine, along with several well-trained dogs and a trio of lovely horses.

A huge silver machine adorned with silver umbrellas disgorges a robot-like juggler who keeps his balls in pockets all over his costume, but his actual act seems merely an afterthought. The Shandong Acrobats, on the other hand, do astonishing things with jumprobes, like forming a pyramid of six guys who clear the rope all at once, and the Flying Cortes are breathtaking.

From time to time the dream edges into nightmare; it's one of the darker Big Apple incarnations I've seen. A little girl pulled from the audience refuses to wear a funny hat, and disappears into the vaguely Grand Guignol set. But do not be alarmed — her final reappearance is one of the highlights of the show.

The downside of downward dog

► Just how does one get through the most unpleasant moments that can occur in yoga class?
► Plus, some etiquette rules to remember

According to Devon Spencer-Smith, yoga instructor at the Rise Movement studio in Los Angeles (Kristen Stewart is a fan), the best way to deal with an embarrassing incident during yoga class is to laugh it off. "Yoga is a moving meditation that allows you to let go of a lot of things in life. Getting annoyed or agitated adds aggressiveness and ego to your practice, which defies its purpose," she says. Other than having a sense of humor, here are some ways you can address mortifying mat moments.

Problem 1:

You're embarrassed to make a sound

That "ohm" in the beginning can leave first-timers in a fit of giggles. Solution: The purpose of the Sanskrit sound is to mentally bring everyone into and out of the class. "It's what helps you stay focused and aware of your breath," says David Kim, instructor at L.A.'s YogaWorks studio. "If doing the 'ohm' really embarrasses you, then do a very quiet one under your breath," Kim suggests.

Problem 2:

You make an, erm, unexpected noise

Passing wind in public is bad enough. It's even worse when it happens during a silent yoga class. Solution: "If a student passes gas, ignore it," says Kim. "Some poses trigger the release of gas, especially twists and inversions that upset digestion." And if it's you you're worried about, avoid eating two to three hours before a class, and relax: The anxiety over trying not to fart can make it happen.

Problem 3:

You settle next to a rude neighbor

You arrive early to secure the best spot. Five minutes into class, the aggravator arrives, puts his mat an inch from yours, blocks your view and wedges his toes in your face. Solution: The teacher should lay down the law. "It's only fair to have a 15-minute rule, after which the people aren't allowed in," says Kim. Barring that, ask them to be careful — and wish them namaste afterward.

► Your instructor has likely seen (and heard) it all.

Yoga no-nos

Never do the following:

- Leave your cell phone on. You know this. How come your neighbor doesn't?
- Skip shavasana (the last meditative state). People come to yoga class with a gym-like focus — they want to leave once the "workout" is over and skip the shavasana meditation. This final pose is very important to restore the nervous system and calm your mind. ► Step on someone's mat. Only you know where your feet have been.

Strike a pose

Yoga pose of the week: Sleeping Tortoise

Each Wednesday, as part of our expanded Wellbeing section, Metro will share a top yoga pose from the pros. Why yoga? We love that it's known to build strength, lower blood pressure and ease stress — to name just a few of its benefits. This pose, from Bodyism Yoga instructor Stephanie Knutsson, is especially great for beginners.

Start in a seated position, with your knees out to the sides and the soles of the feet together. Have the heels about a foot away from the groin.

► Keep in mind that movement must come from the hip joint. Try to keep the knees as straight as possible.

2 Grab the feet from above and reach out under the legs to grab the toes. Take a breath in and let the knees drop.

3 On an exhale, round your spine and pull the head towards the feet. Release the neck and drop the head. Hold this position for about 30 seconds.

4 To come out of the pose, exhale and release the hands and feet. On an inhale, lift the torso up to a sitting position. Use your hands to help you draw your knees back to center. • METRO

Once and for all, who should pay on a date?

No more drama

JONATHAN ALPERT
WWW.JONATHANALPERT.COM

I'm a single guy in the city. I'm really tired of gold-digging women expecting me to pay for everything on dates. I understand it's appropriate to pay for the first date or two, but why is it that women can't chip in at all when they want equality in every other part of life? How can I handle this? I want to continue to date but don't want to go broke doing so.

No doubt, you'll encounter women who are simply after a good meal. Many female clients have told me they go out with a new guy several nights a week just to get a free dinner. Don't be a victim to such gold-digging. Pay for the first date if you initiate it. No need to take someone to an expensive restaurant on a first date. The focus should be on getting to know the other person, not judging each other by how much is spent.

Subsequent dates, though, aren't that clear-cut. A man paying for dates is deeply rooted in tradition and widely accepted ► Should it always be the guy signing the receipt?

social etiquette. On the other hand, dating presents an opportunity for women to assert their desire for equality and to move away from 1950s thinking. Men and women then find themselves in a bit of a conundrum. Some people might think, "If women want equal pay for equal work, then they should contribute the same across the board." If a man asks a woman to chip in on a date, she might think he's cheap or uninterested. If a woman offers to pay, he might think she doesn't want anything more than a friendship. If the man accepts the woman's offer, he might feel emasculated and she might think he's cheap.

If you really like her, ask her out again. If money is an issue, simply go for a drink, coffee or something affordable. Consider something that won't break the bank, like cooking at home, an outdoor activity or watching a movie. Explain that you're open to other activities to get to know her so long as she can contribute. If she snubs you, then you know she isn't the girl for you. If she is open to alternative activities or chipping in, then you've got yourself an understanding partner who might be worth pursuing.

Without jobs, who to exploit?

I hope the OWS people go out and get jobs soon. If they don't start working on their retirement funds and 401(k)s now, then what will bankers be able to recklessly overleverage during the next boom/bust cycle?

DANIEL CIAMBRONE, VIA E-MAIL

Congress gets rich illegally

This is real easy if you have half a brain. OWS is about corruption and greed that affects all of us. "60 Minutes" just aired a piece on how our congressional leaders use nonpublic information in order to make large amounts of cash for themselves. People go to jail for that; it's called insider trading. They also buy land near areas that they know will be developed because of this non-public formation. Wake up and stand up.

ROBERT ASHE, VIA E-MAIL

You can't evict this movement

Mayor Bloomberg's decision to have Zuccotti Park in New York City emptied changes nothing. The Occupation will simply continue elsewhere, likely expanding even further. The only positive is that His Honor didn't follow the violent example set by his counterparts in Portland and elsewhere.

JOSEPH CONNELL, BROWNSVILLE

I understand the protestors have rights according to the First Amendment. But does that right include taxpayers footing the bills that come with these rights? Our cities are spending hundreds of thousands per week of taxpayer monies to allow OWS their First Amendment rights. Why don't they pay that bill? No one pays my bills. They just want another handout so they can sit and protest and not work like I must to pay my bills!

PETER MOL, VIA E-MAIL

The Dream was built by slaves

To Michael Chimenti, who asserted that America was built on the concept of "work," something he says OWS protestors wouldn't understand: Do you mean all that work Americans did by enslaving Africans and forcing them to work for them for over 500 years while they sipped sweet tea in between lashings, rapes and lynchings? If your argument is true, then OWS is just following in that fine example set by their forefathers!

TANYA BONNER, NEW YORK

Horoscope

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Something quite fortunate could transpire for you today through the good auspices of a relative. Try to be nicer than usual to both Kith and Kin.

♊ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. In an area where you're trying to make progress, you might initially meet resistance but will soon find complete cooperation. Don't be too quick to make any major judgment calls.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Because of having a natural ability to establish order where chaos is running rampant, you'll function far more effectively today than most other group members.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Once you discover you are allowing challenging developments to intimidate you, you'll be able to do anything you put your mind to today.

♐ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. By bringing people who possess talents you lack into an endeavor that is giving you fits, you can solve most any problem you might encounter today.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. An infusion of hope concerning a financial matter could come through for you from an unexpected conduit today. It could happen just when you're not looking for it.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. It behooves you to develop a few partnership arrangements today, especially where each has a different expertise to offer. Where one is weak, the other should be strong.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Don't be so quick to give up on hope where your career is concerned, because something significant is brewing for you that could turn things around.

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. If a friend or associate of yours should make a promise to do something for you today, don't take it lightly. Chances are your pal will follow through and do exactly what he or she says.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Something on which you're working could yield far more benefits than you ever expected it to do. No matter the trouble you run into, stick to it.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Regardless of how bumpy the road looks, stay the course with someone you recently met who you would like to know better. Be the first one to initiate another get-together.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Chance could play a powerful role today in bringing about conditions for producing more material growth than you ever thought possible. It'll be up to you to stay with it, however.

Christian vs. convicts

- In a callback to the days of Notre Dame-Miami, bad boy Jets face Tim Tebow, Broncos
- Main focus is on bringing down bruising runner ► Defense concerned with multiple looks ► Tim Tebow only completed two passes against the Chiefs last Sunday, but they still won the game 17-10.

Love him or hate him, Broncos quarterback Tim Tebow is a challenge.

The 6-foot-3, 235-pound Tebow is built like few other quarterbacks — a mobile quarterback who can shrug off would-be tacklers.

Taking Tebow down is the top goal of the Jets' defense.

"You have to bring him down. A guy like him is so good at breaking tackles, it is hats to the football," defensive end Aaron Maybin said. "You can't bring him down with one tackler; you need to get on him. He's that strong; he's a big guy you have to wrap him up."

Tebow can run the ball and pull up to make a pass, giving him the ability to hurt defenses that key in on his running ability too much.

"If you pull up as a linebacker thinking he's going to do one thing, he can hurt you the other way," linebacker Jamaal Westerman said.

Rangers win their seventh straight

In a game that looked like it was going to be determined by the foot soldiers, it was a star who scored the game-winning goal.

Brad Richards' goal with 4:55 remaining in the third was the game-winner in the Rangers' 4-2 win over the Islanders last night at the Nassau Coliseum.

The Rangers have won seven in a row, equaling their longest winning streak since October 2009. The Islanders meanwhile have lost five of six and fall to 4-8-3 on the season.

Sean Avery snapped a wrist past Evgeni

Nabokov stickside 14:43 into the first period to give the Rangers a 1-0 lead. The goal was Avery's second of the season.

Frans Nielsen's slap-shot goal at 17:06 tied the game at 1-1.

Steve Eminger's first goal in 30 games allowed the Rangers to retake the advantage, 2-1, in the second.

Matt Moulson equalized it on the power play at 13:02 of the third period. John Tavares, who controlled the puck at the right wing circle, fed Moulson who drove to the net and tipped Tavares' pass past Lundqvist.

That set the stage for Richards' game winner. Ryan Callahan added an empty netter.

► DENIS GORMAN

Brad Richards scored the sixth goal of his Rangers career. He has five goals in the last eight games — seven of which were wins.

28

The Islanders outshot the Rangers 28-15 over the final two periods of the game, but were outscored 3-1 on the scoreboard.

Opinion

SPORTS@METRO.US

This weekend we had perhaps the best football player/cheerleader on-field moment since Boise State's Ian Johnson proposed to his cheerleader girlfriend.

Of course you remember when Johnson's Broncos stunned Oklahoma in one of the wildest bowl games of the last decade, but this week an NFL player scored a touchdown and ran to give his girlfriend — a cheerleader on the opposing team — the ball.

In the Bills-Cowboys game Sunday, the crowd was stunned by what went down, and the announcers, who apparently don't read sports blogs, had no clue what was going on.

David Nelson plays for the Bills. He's from Texas and went to the University of Florida. Kelsi Reich is his girlfriend, and she's a cheerleader for the Cowboys.

After Nelson scored he jogged down the sideline toward his girlfriend. The camera operator seemed to know what was up, but the announcers were clueless about the whole thing.

Reich hopped on Twitter Sunday and showed everyone the ball, proclaiming she was the "happiest girl in the world."

Uninformed vs. 'fans'

I lobbied the editor of this space to get in a word about the lurid Penn State scandal. How can I not at least address what is the biggest scandal in the history of college sports? I'll try to be succinct in my two points on the subject.

There are two groups of people chiming in on this sordid tale: Those who have read the 23-page grand jury report (they're informed), and those who haven't (they're uninformed).

While the report is detailed, it does not include everyone's entire testimony. It did contain enough detail to press charges against former Penn State defensive coordinator Jerry Sandusky though.

At the same time, there are two other groups of people who feel compelled to talk about the topic: college football "fans" and people who have zero connection to the sport besides maybe having heard of Joe Paterno prior to the scandal.

A large portion of college football "fans," for whatever reason, find it hard to believe a coverup could take place. Most of these people have not read the grand jury report.

People who live in a world unaware 107,000 people pack Beaver Stadium every game think everyone involved in the scandal knew what was going on and, disgustingly, did nothing.

Wild, wild 250 West

You've likely zipped past 250 West St. while driving up the West Side Highway. The former fruit-and-vegetable warehouse has arched windows and the words "West Street" stenciled on its Hudson River-facing facade.

The building was purchased in 2006 by the Elad Group, the Israeli developer famous (or infamous, depending on your perspective) for converting the Plaza Hotel into condos.

Elad started converting 250 West into apartments in June, and as of last month, 250 West had sold 25 of its 106 units, with 11 in contract.

The building has a mix of units — from studios to three-bedrooms to a 7,000-square-foot penthouse with outdoor space and a private elevator lobby.

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

0% FREE Financing for 5 years!<sup>1</sup>

Plus Limited Time FREE upgrade to energy-efficient SmartSun™ Glass<sup>1</sup>

Replacement windows are in the budget this year.

In our current economy, some folks have put off replacing their windows, but with 0% FREE financing for five years, you can't afford to put it off any longer. There isn't a bank around where you can borrow money without paying interest, but that's exactly what we're offering. Get the replacement windows every homeowner wants, while keeping more of your money in your pocket.

With installers this skilled, we even warranty your installation†.

Most companies will warranty their windows—but with a few unpredictable workers—they won't warranty their installations. Renewal by Andersen Master Installers only come to your home after they've been trained, tested and trusted. With teams that average 10+ years of window installation experience, most installations—including the cleanup—are completed in just one day.

For a strong window that will last, look to the company that has lasted.

Renewal by Andersen is the exclusive start-to-finish replacement window subsidiary of Andersen Windows—a company with a 108 year reputation for quality. Our replacement windows are held to Andersen's same high standard, while some other, less reliable windows have been reported to leak and fail after just a few years.

The M34 now has Select Bus Service.

Life got a little easier yesterday. That's when Select Bus Service (SBS) began on the M34 route, giving riders better service and improved travel time along 34th Street.

The M34 SBS has a dedicated, strictly enforced bus-only lane. You pay before boarding at special sidewalk kiosks, then board through any door. Plus, SBS buses run more frequently than the M34 limited buses they replace. And they even control the traffic signal at 7th Avenue . . . a critical bottleneck.

For the 18,000 of you who ride the M34 every day, trips could be up to 20% faster. Look for the buses with flashing blue LED lights.

For more information, visit mta.info. 34th Street yesterday. More miracles tomorrow.
